We don't know what happens to the animals. Jesus indicates that they must be used for the human. So animals are less valuable to God than humans.

There are righteous animals, so it is possible that animals will go to heaven. For example herbivorous animals could go to heaven. But nothing is written about it in the Bible.

Animals are used to create a world for humans. If God works on utility, they are useless in his world. Indeed, there is no longer imperfect matter in the God's world. Theoretically our soul should not need animals and plants. If God wants to recreate a charming world, he can resurrect the animals.

My Notes

Try to understand nature's world.
